

Giants' Verlander 10th pitcher to join 3,500K club

Field Level Media

Major League Baseball's 3,500-strikeout club now has a 10th member.

The San Francisco Giants' Justin Verlander registered three whiffs in the top of the first inning against the visiting Washington Nationals on Sunday that not only allowed the 42-year-old to escape a jam, but also to record the 3,500th strikeout of his Hall of Fame career.

After Verlander fanned Nathaniel Lowe to wriggle out of a two-on, two-out situation in the first, the three-time Cy Young Award winner earned a standing ovation as the Giants displayed a congratulatory message on the Oracle Park jumbotron.

Verlander finished the day with 3,503 strikeouts as he posted six strikeouts over five innings while allowing five runs on 11 hits. Now in his 20th season, Verlander entered Sunday's series finale with a 263-155 record and a 3.33 ERA spread across 3,510 innings and 545 games (all starts).

He joins an exclusive club led by Nolan Ryan, who amassed 5,714 strikeouts during his 27-year career. Randy Johnson (4,875), Roger Clemens (4,672), Steve Carlton (4,136), Bert Blyleven (3,701), Tom Seaver (3,640), Don Sutton (3,574), Gaylord Perry (3,534) and Walter Johnson (3,509) also belong to the club.

Max Scherzer needs 44 strikeouts to become the 11th member of the group, while Clayton Kershaw (3,017) and Chris Sale (2,528) are the only other active pitchers within 1,200 whiffs.

The Nationals defeated the Giants 8-0 on Sunday behind four RBIs from James Wood.

Watching Chiefs-Seahawks preseason game: Time, TV, odds

BY BLAIR KERKHOFF
BKerkhoff@kcstar.com

Preseason game No. 2 arrives on Friday when the Chiefs visit the Seattle Seahawks.

Typically, the Chiefs' starting players get their most extensive playing time in the middle preseason game. Last year, star quarterback Patrick Mahomes was on the field for two series. Two years ago, he played three after the Chiefs punted away the first two.

In the preseason opener, Mahomes was on the field for three snaps after the Chiefs recovered a fumbled kickoff to open the game. He left after tossing a 1-yard touchdown pass to Jason Brownlee in a 20-17 loss to the Arizona Cardinals.

Where and when is the Chiefs vs. Seattle Seahawks preseason game?

The game will kick off Friday at 9 p.m. Central Time, played at Lumen Field in Seattle.

What's the channel (and radio info) for the Chiefs-Seahawks game?

The game will be broadcast by KSHB (Channel 41). In Wichita it will be on KWCH (Channel 12). The game will also be broadcast on radio via KFNZ (96.5 FM) in the KC area, and KNSS (98.7 FM) in the Wichita area.

What is the betting line for Chiefs-Seahawks?

The Chiefs opened as a 2 1/2-point favorite on FanDuel with an over/under of 38 1/2. The Chiefs were a 1 1/2-point favorite in their preseason opener at the Arizona Cardinals and didn't cover.

ROYALS

Bergert turned in another solid performance. his second start with the Royals since arriving from San Diego in a pre-deadline trade. However, he walked Twins catcher Mickey Gasper just ahead of Fitzgerald and that proved costly.

"That's a second really good outing," Quatraro said. "He shows really good stuff and really good composure."

"He is getting righties and lefties out and he elevated his fastball when he needed to. He threw some good sliders down to lefties as well and some good changeups. There's nothing you don't like about what he has done."

Bergert earned a no-decision after allowing two runs and striking out eight Twins in 5 2/3 innings.

The Royals took the lead in the seventh when Pasquantino powered a 83.3 mph curveball over the outfield fence. It was his career-best 20th home run of the season.

But the Twins wouldn't go away.

Rave made a critical mistake in left field as he misplayed a line drive by Twins outfielder Austin Martin. He attempted to make a diving catch; instead, the ball rolled past him to the left-field wall.

"His instincts were to go get it," Quatraro said. "He is going to give the best effort he can, and I know if he had it to do over again, he would've played it as a single if he knew he wasn't going to catch it. But he is probably a couple inches away from catching that ball."

Martin wound up at third base. He scored the game-tying run on Ryan Jeffers' RBI single in the eighth.

Of Rave, Quatraro said: "That's effort, that's intensity and trying to do the best you can. It's a physical error and it's not something he is going to try to do that again if the situation presented itself, but that's what happened."

With the score deadlocked at 3, the Royals again had a bases-loaded opportunity to win the game in the ninth inning. However, Adam Frazier flew out to right field, leaving all runners stranded.

And this time the Twins wouldn't give in. After the Royals squandered two chances to score in extra innings, Luke Keaschall hit a walk-off, two-run homer to give Minnesota the series victory.

"They had chances yesterday and we wiggled out of it," Quatraro said. "We had chances today and they wiggled out of it. We hit some balls right on the screws and right at people. And sometimes there is nothing you can do about that."

The Royals (58-60) finished 4-5 on their nine-game road trip. The missed opportunities hurt and they have now dropped two consecutive series.

KC returns to Kauffman Stadium now and begins a three-game series against the Washington Nationals on Monday.
