Heller Martial Arts hosts Youth Leadership Camp

HIAWATHA WORLD

Area youth are invited to the Youth Leadership Camp hosted by Heller Martial Arts. This is a half-day event in which students will participate in a highly interactive experience focused on self-leadership, intentional habits, and positive influence. The camp is Saturday, March 21st, 9 a.m.-12 p.m. at Heller Martial Arts, 1522 Stone St. Falls City.

This camp is free thanks to our Board-Break-A-Thon, where we broke boards to raise awareness and funds for Suicide and Bullying Prevention. By promoting leadership qualities, we aim to build leaders who will step in to prevent bullying situations and be friends and allies to all.

Our camp leader is Coach

Chris, who is the Founder of Impact 168 and a Maxwell Leadership Certified Coach, Training and Speaker. With over 25 years of experience working with youth, young adults and families, he's excited to lead Impact 168 to help individuals and teams unearth their unique gifts, enabling them to live into their strengths, unlock their full potential, and lead a fulfilled life.

The camp's objective is to help students understand that leadership starts with leading themselves, giving them simple, repeatable tools to intentionally set the tone, model the standard, and influence others in every environment they enter. Through guided discussion, small-group work, and hands-on activities, students will explore what it means to lead themselves first—how daily choices, routines, and attitudes set the tone for how they show up as leaders on the mat, at school, and in their communities.

Throughout the camp, students will connect leadership concepts to real expectations they already live by—such as being fast, strong, and willing to speak up—so leadership feels practical, achievable, and immediately applicable.

Sign up for the Youth Leadership Camp by visiting hellermartialarts.com or emailing hellermartialarts@gmail.com. This will help us plan and let us get announcements to you quickly.
